DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

Figures 12-13 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated (reference applicant's specification, "Background Art". See MPEP § 608.02(g). Corrected drawings in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The replacement sheet(s) should be labeled "Replacement Sheet" in the page header (as per 37 CFR 1.84(c)) so as not to obstruct any portion of the drawing figures. If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant Admitted Prior Art and US Patents to any of 5165214, 4704836 or WO01/14658 (reference related US Patent 6758022).

Regarding claims 1-5: Applicant discloses the specification at least on page 1 "Background Art" and page 7 "Best Mode for Carrying Out the Invention" that it is common and known in the art to have a space truss as presently claimed characterized by a rectangular upper lattice and a rectangular lower lattice, each composed of chord members in vertical directions and in horizontal directions, said chord members intersecting with each other, and diagonal members coupling intersection points of said chord members in both of said lattices mutually. Applicant indicates in the specification that applicant's invention differs from the prior art frames with regard to the chord members and diagonal members. Accordingly it appears the novelty of applicant's invention lies in the frame members.

US Patents to Codd, 4704836 and 5165214, and Publication WO01/14658 (reference US Patent 6758022 to Coll et al.) all disclose framing members for making a space truss having long rod members with a flattened intersection point intermediate flattened ends (which are half the size of the intermediate point) of the rod and diagonal members formed by bend rod members; where the members are coupled on top of each other directly or with a spacer at the intersection points (reference figures 1-6 of patent 4704836; figures 1-6 of patent 5165214; and figures 5-8, 9, 11A-F, 14-19 of WO 01/14658). Accordingly it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to make the known space truss configuration using the known framing members as such a modification would provide for versatility in design and a more cost efficient frame (where the members are more cost efficient to make). Further it is noted that the substitution of one known element for another without changing the function of the element is merely employing the common sense of one of ordinary skill in the art when the substitution yields predictable results.
